

Introduction:

To meet the demands of industry Alpha Maritime is expanding! We are a small but busy commercial diving outfit that started operating out of Vancouver, Canada, in 2004. Alpha Maritime offers a diverse range of marine services both above and below water. Primarily we specialize in dredging, anchoring, pile driving and buoyancy installations. We have three support vessels and a work barge. Over the years we have built up a well established client base with a healthy growth trajectory.

The position on offer is for Operations Manager. We are looking for someone with good mechanical/construction skills and qualifications. Opportunities for career advancement (including an equity component), would be excellent for the right person.

The job requires the following qualifications

1. At least five years work experience in a leadership/management role.
Mechanical/construction/engineering skills.
2. Surface supplied diving certification (Canadian Standards) to at least 30 meters. (We may consider applicants without this certification).
3. Boat handling certification and experience would also be advantages.
4. Be a Canadian Citizen/Permanent Resident

The successful candidate would need to :

1. be (very specifically) someone who can work independently and who only needs the minimum of supervision.
2. be resourceful and think laterally to solve any problems as they arise.
3. have good general knowledge of dive systems, engineering, construction and mechanics (including hydraulics).
4. be able to ensure all the relevant equipment needed for any job is maintained and available.
5. remain engaged and have excellent situational awareness.
6. be able to ensure that all employees comply with the relevant health and safety regulations.
7. Project manage various contractual obligations.

Remuneration:

Based on industry standards according to skill sets and qualifications.

Contact:

Applicants to send their resumes to peter@alpha-maritime.ca.